

Ashgate Contemporary Thinkers on Critical Musicology Series

The titles in this series bring together a selection of previously published and some unpublished essays by leading authorities in the field of critical musicology. The essays are chosen from a wide range of publications and so make key works available in a more accessible form. The authors have all made a selection of their own work in one volume with an introduction which discusses the essays chosen and puts them into context. A full bibliography points the reader to other publications which might not be included in the volume for reasons of space. The previously published essays are published using the facsimile method of reproduction to retain their original pagination, so that students and scholars can easily reference the essays in their original form.

Prices, publication dates and contents shown in this leaflet are correct at the time of going to press, but are subject to change without notice. Details of forthcoming titles are necessarily provisional.

to order: by post: Bookpoint Ltd
Ashgate Publishing Direct Sales
130 Milton Park, Abingdon
Oxon, OX14 4SB
Order Reference: SC1822

telephone: +44 (0)1235 827730
fax: +44 (0)1235 400454
email: ashgate@bookpoint.co.uk

online (incl. discount): www.ashgate.com

Critical Musicology and the Responsibility of Response

Selected Essays

LAWRENCE KRAMER, Fordham University, USA

Why does music move us? Lawrence Kramer suggests we should ask this old question in a different way: what is responsible for our response to music, and to what is our response responsible? The essays in this collection, most of which have been previously published, try to answer this question amongst many others, and by finding cultural meaning in music they exemplify the critical turn in musicology.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction; Selected bibliography; Tropes and windows: an outline of musical hermeneutics (1990); Decadence and desire: the 'Wilhelm Meister' songs of Wolf and Schubert; Dangerous Liaisons: the literary text in musical criticism; Music criticism and the postmodern turn: in contrary motion with Gary Tomlinson; Charging the Canons; The strange case of Beethoven's 'Coriolan': romantic aesthetics, modern subjectivity, and the cult of Shakespeare; The harem threshold: Turkish music and Greek love in Beethoven's 'Ode to Joy'; Primitive encounters: Beethoven's 'Tempest' sonata, musical meaning, and enlightenment anthropology; Tolstoy's Beethoven, Beethoven's Tolstoy: the Kreutzer sonata; Like falling leaves: the erotics of mourning in four drum taps settings; Chopin at the funeral: episodes in the history of modern death; Recognising Schubert: musical subjectivity, cultural change and Jane Campion's The Portrait of a Lady; Haydn's chaos, Schenker's order; or, musical meaning and musical analysis: can they mix?; Speaking melody, melodic speech; 'Longindying Call': of music, modernity, and the Sirens 'Au-delà d'une musique informelle': nostalgia, obsolescence, and the avant-garde; Index.

INCLUDES 16 ESSAYS

2006 346 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$150.00 978-0-7546-2664-0

Music and Historical Critique

Selected Essays

GARY TOMLINSON, University of Pennsylvania, USA

Music and Historical Critique provides a definitive collection of Gary Tomlinson's influential studies on critical musicology, with the watchword throughout being history. This collection gathers his most innovative essays and lectures, some of them published here for the first time, along with an introduction outlining the context of the contributions and commenting on their aims and significance.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction; List of published writings; The web of culture: a context for musicology; Music and the claims of text: Monteverdi, Rinuccini and Marino; Opera and drama; Hugo, Donizetti and Verdi; Italian romanticism and Italian opera: an essay in their affinities; Pastoral and musical magic in the birth of opera; Musical pasts and postmodern musicologies: A Response to Lawrence Kramer and Tomlinson Responds; Giaches de Wert and the discourse of Petrarchism; Cultural dialogics and jazz: a white historian signifies; Unlearning the Aztec cantares (preliminaries to a postcolonial history); Finding ground to stand on; Self, other, and the emergence of musical modernity; Vico's songs: detours at the origins of (ethno)musicology; Ghosts in the machine; Hamlet and Poppea; Learning to curse at 67; Musicology, anthropology, history; 5 pictures of pathos; Il faut méditerraniser la musique: after Braudel; Index.

INCLUDES 19 ESSAYS

2007 354 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$144.95 978-0-7546-2688-6

Taking Popular Music Seriously

Selected Essays

SIMON FRITH, University of Edinburgh, UK

As a sociologist Simon Frith's starting point is that music is the result of the play of social forces, whether as an idea, an experience or an activity. The essays in this important collection address these forces, recognising that music is an effect of a continuous process of negotiation, dispute and agreement between the individual actors who make up a music world. The collection includes nineteen essays, some of which have had a major impact on the field, along with an autobiographical introduction.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction; Bibliography; Youth and music; 'The magic that can set you free': the ideology of folk and the myth of the rock community; Rock and sexuality (with Angela McRobbie); Afterthoughts; Formalism, realism and leisure: the case of punk; Art vs. technology: the strange case of popular music; The industrialisation of popular music; Playing with real feeling: making sense of jazz in Britain; The suburban sensibility in British rock and pop; The discourse of world music; Pop music; Look! hear! the uneasy relationship of music and television; Music and everyday life; Why do songs have words?; Hearing secret harmonies; Towards an aesthetic of popular music; Adam Smith and music; Music and identity; What is bad music?; Index.

INCLUDES 19 ESSAYS

2007 360 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$144.95 978-0-7546-2679-4

Why not sign up to our free email update service? ashgateupdates@ashgatepublishing.com

Reading Music

Selected Essays

SUSAN MCCLARY, UCLA, USA

This outstanding collection of Susan McClary's work exemplifies her contribution to a bridging of the gap between historical context, culture and musical practice. Each of the essays treats music as cultural text and has a strong interdisciplinary appeal. Together with the autobiographical introduction they will prove essential reading for anyone interested in the life and times of a renegade musicologist.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction; Bibliography; Part 1 Interpretation and Polemics: Pitches, expression, ideology: an exercise in mediation; The blasphemy of talking politics during Bach Year; Narrative agendas in 'absolute' music: identity and difference in Brahms's 3rd symphony; Terminal prestige: the case of avant-garde music composition. Part 2 Gender and Sexuality: A material girl in Bluebeard's castle; Structures of identity and difference in Bizet's Carmen; Constructions of subjectivity in Schubert's music. Part 3 Popular Music: 'Same as it ever was': youth culture and music; Living to tell; Madonna's resurrection of the fleshly; Thinking blues. Part 4 Early Music: The cultural work of the madrigal; Cycles of Repetition: Chacona, Ciaccona, Chaconne, and the Chaconne; Index.

INCLUDES 13 ESSAYS

2007 376 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$144.95 978-0-7546-2672-5

Sound Judgment

Selected Essays

RICHARD LEPPERT, University of Minnesota, USA

Richard Leppert's selected essays comprise 14 of his best papers, published between the early 1970s and the present day. The volume also includes an extensive autobiographical introduction which will make fascinating reading for scholars and students.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction: judging sound; Auality: On reading Adorno hearing Schubert; Opera, aesthetic violence, and the imposition of modernity: Fitzcarraldo; 'Everybody's lonesome for somebody': age, the body, and experience in the music of Hank Williams (co-authored with George Lipsitz); Gender sonics: the voice of Patsy Cline. Visuality: The prodigal son: Teniers and Ghezzi; Concert in a House: musical iconography and musical thought; Imagery, musical confrontation and cultural difference in early 18th-century London; Male agony: awakening conscience; The musician of the imagination. Practice: Music teachers of upper-class amateur musicians in 18th-century England; Music and the body: dance, power, submission. Utopia: Nature and exile: Adorno, Mahler and the appropriation of kitsch; Four hands, three hearts: a commentary: Four hands once again (Theodor W. Adorno, translated by Jonathan Wipplinger); Music 'pushed to the edge of existence' (Adorno, listening and the question of hope). Index.

INCLUDES 14 ESSAYS

2007 358 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$144.95 978-0-7546-2683-1

Music, Performance, Meaning

Selected Essays

NICHOLAS COOK, Royal Holloway, University of London, UK

This selection of Nicholas Cook's essays covers the period from 1987 to 2004 and brings out the development of the author's ideas over these years. In particular the two keywords of the title - Meaning and Performance - represent critical directions that expand to the point that, by the end of the book, they become coextensive: music is seen as social action and meaning as created by that action.

CONTENTS INCLUDE: Introduction; Bibliography; Musical form and the listener; The perception of large-scale tonal closure; Beethoven's unfinished piano concerto: a case of double vision?; Schenker's theory of music as ethics; The editor and the virtuoso, or Schenker vs. Bülow; Heinrich Schenker, polemicist: a reading of the 9th symphony monograph; Music minus 1: rock, theory and performance; The domestic gesamtkunstwerk, or record sleeves and reception; At the borders of musical identity: Schenker, Corelli and the Graces; Theorising musical meaning; Form and syntax: a tale of 2 terms; The other Beethoven: heroism, the canon and the works of 1813-14; Performance writ large: desultory remarks on furnishing the abode of the retired scholar; In praise of symbolic poverty; Writing on music or axes to grind: road rage and musical community; Making music together, or improvisation and its others. Index.

INCLUDES 16 ESSAYS

2007 378 PAGES HARDBACK
£75.00/$144.95 978-0-7546-2718-0